

A NOTE TO MY LOST SPECTACLES

When I first saw you
I couldn't help but love you at first sight
The very first glance at you
Sent ceaseless chills down my young eyelids
I simply couldn't help but imagine how bright
And clear my future would be with you
As my second pair of vision
The four eyed girl I was to become

But now you are long gone
I have sought so long
For another to replace you
But my search only ends up
In my lost memories of you

You were the only thing that mattered to me
So close to my nose you entertained
The breath of life in my soul
And oxygen was in plentiful supply

Our love was magical
And people called me lyrical,
The miracle
Because your sparkling appearance
Made my whole countenance dazzle with Brightness even though you were only on my face
I shone with rare brightness

Our love was simply real
Me inhaling your exhales
As you exhaled and inhaled my exhales
We simply could survive under water
By being close to each other
Because your breath was mine
And mine was yours
We were a complete ecosystem
Oh, how much we lived in our own world

I carried you to my favorite places
I introduced you to my friends without a word
Even my closest friends
You knew them all

From the outside you knew them
In fact, you helped me choose which ones
Because of the second sight of clarity you gave me

In our final days you helped me see
My future so clear
I mean, who wouldn't see clearly with four eyes
But now you are gone
Resting in mystery
Perhaps in the arms of nature
Enjoying her attitude of solitude
In a land far away
A place called "I don't know."

I stay in remembrance of you most times
Thinking if I will ever see you again
Though you left no clue
I still stick my pictures of you
And me on the wall with glue
Hoping that someday I will understand the mystery
Of where you, my dear spectacles disappeared to

By: Muunda Mudenda
Student of Biochemistry
Bugema University, Uganda.