CURRENT EVENT OF THE WEEK

Hurricane Dorian is continuing to move along the coast of southern US after killing 7 people in the Bahamas. Dorian was a category 5 when it was above the Bahamas but is now a category 2 with maximum winds of 105 mph. Though it has decreased its overall power, the size of the storm has expanded, meaning its strong winds can cover a larger area. Rising water levels are expected to take a turn for the worst on the coasts of Florida, Georgia, and the Carolinas.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

“If everything seems under control, you’re not going fast enough”- Mario Andretti

NAVAL TERM OF THE WEEK

Beam- Widest part of the ship, usually in the midship area.
